CELLAR AGED WINES

The Marsovin Wine Bank is one of the main attractions of the Marsovin cellars, an area dedicated to the ageing of a select range of our premium wines. Every year the winemaker lays down these wines for further ageing in the bottle where they rest and mature. The wine bank stores Grand Maître, Primus, Guže, Antonin, Marnisi and Cheval Franc. This wine bank was first set up in the early nineties. Early vintages of Grand Maître and Marsovin first Cabernet Sauvignon, can be found ageing gracefully in the ideal temperature, light and humidity controlled conditions.

The ageing of these wines allows the winery to assess the quality of its wines over the long term. In fact, every 2 years the wine maker together with a tasting panel assess the quality of the wines. Assessing these wines for a longer period of time allows the winery to get a true sense of the ageing potential of each wine and every vintage. Notes are taken and published through the winery newsletters every year.

A Flagship for Maltese Wine

The Marsovin Winery felt that the local wine industry ought to be given a premium level wine made from the indigenous red grape - Ġellewża. After years of intuitive experimentation and dedication, the first Imqadded Ta' Malta was produced; a carefully thought-out blend of Ġellewża and Shiraz grapes coming together to create PRIMUS. The grapes are hand-picked just as they reach full ripeness in September, they are then left untouched in grape crates to sun dry on the winery's roof. During this time, the grapes are naturally dehydrated by the elements, adding to the concentration of aromas. Around the beginning of October, the grapes are softly pressed, and left to ferment in temperature controlled stainless steel tanks. The resulting wine is transferred into 225Ltr new French oak barrels and left to rest and mature at the Marsovin Cellars for a period of 17 months.

Primus is a deeply concentrated ruby-purple coloured wine displaying distinct tears with intense aromas of dried fruits and amarena cherries, marrying well with new oak barrel flavours of vanilla, cinnamon and nutmeg leaving a very pleasant lingering off dry finish. When dining one must make sure that the right food is chosen to compliment Primus' strong character. This wine is best paired with beef, game and stews. Primus also works well with strongly flavoured, sharp and very ripe cheeses such as Artisanal Pecorino Romano, aged Gorgonzola and Parmigiano Reggiano - the king of cheeses.

Primus was created to represent the first premium Maltese wine to be produced from the grape variety, Ġellewża and by doing so raising the standard and developing the identity of our indigenous Maltese varieties.

FROM THE ORIENT

Asia's rising crop of whiskies is every bit as good as some of the finest Scotch whiskies. Most were deliberately made in Scotch whisky's image, but added twists which give Asia's whiskies their own distinct identity.

One facet of the style of Japanese whisky comes from the way in which blended whisky is produced, and the differing nature of the industry in Japan. Despite the recent rise of interest in single malt whiskies, the vast majority of whisky sold in the world is still blended.

In Japan, however, the industry is vertically integrated, meaning whisky companies own both the distilleries and the brands of blended whiskies, and do not trade with their competitors. So, a blended whisky in Japan will generally only contain malt whisky from the distilleries owned by that same company, creating a unique flavour profile.
